It's been our experience that owners who do not take a Great Danes puppies' size into consideration surrender these dogs to rescue. The Mid-Atlantic Great Dane Rescue League (MAGDRL) is a registered not-for-profit organization dedicated to helping abandoned, neglected, and abused Danes find homes. With over 70 Danes in rescue at any given time, the majority of Danes accepted into MAGDRL were purchased as puppies that quickly outgrow their welcome, especially when they weren't taught basic obedience. lovingly take these Danes into our homes and hearts, provide medical care including spaying and neutering, and provide a supportive network of volunteers to provide assistance for adopters to ensure our Danes' adaptability into their new homes.

MAGDRL works toward educating the public and potential adopters about caring for this wonderful breed through a variety of programs geared toward community outreach.

Owning a Great Dane is no small matter. It's been our experience that when every member of the family is involved in the decision to own a Dane, the chances of a successful adoption are much greater. Drea de Matteo's love and admiration for Great Danes started early in her childhood as she grew up with these gentle giants. When Drea isn't busy filming Joey, she has generously dedicated her time to educate the public about what is being done for Danes that are abandoned, neglected, and abused. The Mid-Atlantic Great Dane Rescue League (MAGDRL) is a registered not-for-profit organization dedicated to helping Danes like Hooch find homes. With over 70 Danes in
